To whom it may concern:

This letter is for current patient's of The Women's Group of Northwestern. The Women's Group of Northwestern supports the recommendations of the CDC, the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology, AMA and the Society of Maternal Fetal Medicine regarding the vaccination of pregnant and breast-feeding women:

That covid vaccines should be available and administered to pregnant and breast-feeding women who choose to be vaccinated.

Additionally, while pregnant individuals are encouraged to discuss vaccination considerations with their clinical care team when feasible, documentation of such a discussion should not be required prior to receiving a COVID-19 vaccine.

Sincerely,

The Physicians of The Women's Group of Northwestern
